GIVING OPPORTUNITIES TO YOUNG ARTISTS

Ottawa's only semi-professional producer of original Canadian musicals and theatre.

GOYA Theatre Productions Inc. is a community-based theatre company with charitable status. GOYA offers high caliber Canadian productions—usually new and original, and wherever possible includes a special emphasis on youth involvement in all aspects of theatrical production and performance.

GOYA members are committed to creating the finest amateur and semi-professional theatre experiences available in Ottawa. Our focus is on new and original Canadian works. We specifically strive to nurture lifelong youth interest in theatre by maximizing their involvement in all aspects of our productions.

We've attracted many of Ottawa's best actors, musicians, and dancers, as well as stage and production crews who raise the performance bar ever higher.

All performances occur at The Chamber at Ben Franklin Place, 101 Centrepointe Drive. Our major musical production is in October; our stage play, which is usually a comedy, runs in April/May; and our children's production plays every March for the school Spring Break.

As a GOYA sponsor, you reap the huge benefits of supporting community theatre and the arts!

Treat your staff, customers, suppliers, family, and friends to exceptional and affordable entertainment while supporting Canadian productions and our local actors, writers, dancers, and musicians.

GOYA is building our base of community support by selling a full house of all our performances through low-cost leveraged sponsorships with local groups and businesses. Our unique value proposition gives you, the sponsor, an entire bundle of additional benefits for free when you buy a block of GOYA performance seats at a discount to the regular prices. For less than the usual cost of seats alone, the sponsorship package provides you with a host of extra benefits—for free!

WAR BRIDES... THE MUSICAL

Music & Lyrics by Joey Miller, Book by Grahame Woods

Leaving home to follow their hearts, an estimated 48,000 war brides immigrated to "a sweet shop named Canada" immediately following World War II.

Based on the CBC TV drama by Grahame Woods, with music and lyrics added by Joey Miller, WAR BRIDES... The Musical is a softly engaging evening of intertwining stories, which leaves the audience in a feel-good mood, as three women overcome loneliness, disappointment, and prejudice to start new lives in this vast country.

Presented as a series of short moments, with some flashbacks to "how they met", the musical brings to life the uncertainty and small triumphs encountered by so many brave women who left their families and familiar environment to embrace their new husbands' home and lifestyle.

HALF LIFE

A Play by JOHN MIGHTON

What shines when memory fades away?

Clara and Patrick meet in a nursing home for veterans and their families. They begin to fall in love, rekindling what might have been a wartime romance. As Clara and Patrick's middle-aged children watch their faltering parents, the older couple rediscovers beauty and love in the twilight of their years.

If you need proof of the power of love to invigorate every human being, regardless of age, in a story with both serious and comical moments, then do not miss this powerful work by one of Canada's outstanding playwrights, winner of the Dora Mavor Moore, the Chalmers, and the Governor General's awards.
